"ANTI-FOREIGN SENTIMENT."

People of the United States Do Not Want Mexico.

The Mexican Herald in its issue of the 20th inst. came out with a powerful editorial under the above caption, says the Chihuahua Enterprise. The Herald put it all plainly and unequivocally in these words: "The time has come for a little plain talk about the anti-foreign sentiment in Mexico. More especially and more truthfully this sentiment might be termed 'anti-American.'"

We were more than glad to see the Herald, the leading journal published in a foreign language, come out so plainly on this subject which is working to the injury of Mexico and Mexicans and foreigners alike. We have often thought along this line but hesitated to come out with "a little plain talk" for fear of our motives being misconstrued by the Mexicans. But we agree with the Mexican Herald. "The time has come," and we believe that all thinking progressive Mexicans will agree with us.

That there is such a sentiment, "anti-foreign," among a numerous class, no one can deny. It is here. This class is suspicious of foreigners and especially of Americans. This class pretend, at least, to believe that American residents in Mexico are but the advance guard of what is called by some Mexicans the "peaceful conquest." We believe we are safe in saying that there is not a man, woman or child in all the United States who wants Mexico. All the Americans or foreigners want is to do business with the Mexicans as with other parts of the world.

It is estimated that Americans have invested in Mexico at least $700,000,000 gold and England, France and Germany have some where near a billion, all told. Mexico has for its area one of the richest pieces of "God's footstool". It has not the domestic capital to develop these resources no more than the United States had a few years ago. The capital must come from abroad at first and there is no getting around it. The day has gone when a nation can isolate itself. Of all the foreign money invested in this country in the last 30 years, does any Mexican believe that it has averaged six per cent per annum to the investors? Not yet, any one will admit, but the day is sure to come when it will and who should be gladder of it than the Mexicans.

We know full well that the educated and traveled Mexican is a broad-minded man who understands his country's needs and he knows the foreigner in the country is doing his share and more to develop Mexico's vast resources. Of course he knows money, brain and brawn are needed here. He knows, too, that the talk that Americans have unholy designs on the sovereignty of this nation is silly in the extreme. To say otherwise would be an insult to the intelligence of this class of Mexicans.

What we have to say on this subject, we say with the utmost good will toward Mexico and Mexicans and with the highest hopes and best wishes for the republic and its people. In no sense do we mean to give a lecture nor be overcritical. What we mean to say is that a little "plain talk" will be good for both foreigners and Mexicans.

We think the following in the Herald's article is particularly in point.

"The anti-American agitation by a certain class in Mexico will not permanently retard the development of this country, but it ought not to be allowed to do so at all. The narrow minded, suspicious people who foster such ideas should be brought to a realization of the fact that they are living in the twentieth century; that capital and the people of all lands today go everywhere over the face of the globe where opportunity awaits them, and that they will not long be deterred by a few reactionary cave-dwellers.

"It is, as we have said, time that Mexicans made it clear to their misguided brothers that Mexico should utilize the capital, the intelligence and the industry of every possible foreigner for the benefit of Mexico. If these things are expended in Mexico it is impossible for the foreigner to take his 10 per cent without rendering 90 per cent to Mexico and the Mexicans.

WANTS TO BE MOSES.

Harry Juen Says Arizona Has Honored Him Beaten to a Frazzle.

Judge Abram S. Humphreys sends us the following clipping from a Honolulu paper. The Messrs. Juen and W. D. Alexander, of Honolulu, were in Florence some months since looking for land says the Florence Tribune.

"Harry Juen is trying to organize a party of fifty white families in Honolulu to go to Arizona and take up a large slice of government land and become farmers. He hasn't got very far with the project yet, but hopes to be successful in his endeavors to be the Moses to lead his people across the deserts to the land of milk and honey.

Juen returned from Arizona a short time ago, on the last voyage of the Manchuria, and is very enthusiastic over that part of the country. He believes it is the place to make money. All one has to do, he says, is to go there and take up 320 acres of government land and then sit down and wait for Uncle Sam to come along and put water on it.

"Of course, the water is necessary, but it is only a question of time before it comes. If one waits long enough, he will get it.

"Harry Juen's idea is for the whole fifty families to go together and take up their land contiguously. Then they can all chip in and put in a pumping system, which would probably give them water considerably quicker than they would get it were they to wait for the Federal government to dig wells, build dams and do such like things.

"And while the colony was waiting for the crops to grow, the heads of the household could go out and dig gold. Everybody digs gold in Arizona. It is the popular pastime. When a man has nothing else on hand to do, he goes out and digs a few chunks of gold out of the backyard while waiting for dinner to get ready. Really, Arizona, Juen says, has this effete Territory beaten to a frazzle."

Black Men Ship Ore.

A shipment of high grade silver-copper ore reached this city today from the Afro-American Mines Company's property in the Oabalai district. The assay value of the ore is said to run 525 ounces of silver per ton, and it is expected to return about $200 per ton. It will be shipped to the El Paso smelter.

This company, which is a unique one in that it is composed entirely of colored men, only recently began work on the group. At present two out of the five claims owned are being prospected, and the ore brought in was obtained by sinking the prospect shaft to a depth of twenty-five feet.

The claims are situated near the Papago village and about sixty-five miles southwest of Tucson.—Tucson Citizen.

TERRITORIAL NOTES

Items of Interest Culled From Our Exchanges.

The hearing of Mrs. Mary Walker, a Tempe lady who had been deaf for the last seventeen years, was suddenly restored the other day while visiting the stamp mill of the Tombstone Consolidated Mining Company at Tombstone. It is supposed that the loud noise of the dropping stamps was responsible for the sudden cure.

In a mysterious stabbing affray in the White House bar at Douglas, C. O. Hockett, a railroad contractor, was stabbed by a knife in the hands of J. J. Freley, a butcher of the Snelter City. The men were entirely sober and will make no statement of the cause of the quarrel. Hockett was removed to a hospital, where he is in a serious condition, and Freley was arrested.

The Citizen says that United States Marshal Ben Daniels of Tucson announces that he will shortly build a summer residence at his camp in the Santa Rita mountains. Mr. Daniels and wife and daughter, Miss Mary, have just returned from a trip to the mountains, and Mr. Daniels is enthusiastic over the climatic conditions prevailing there at this season of the year.

Professor H. N. Greenwood, the newly elected principal of the Yuma union high school, arrives in Yuma Tuesday evening from his home in Berkeley, California. He comes this early to take up the work of organizing the school and getting ready for the opening in September. Mr. Greenwood is a single man, but will be joined by his mother, who will live with him in this place, at an early date.—Yuma Sun.

The first payment on the sale of the El Tigre mining property in Sonora, according to a bond given during the early spring, was not made on the 21st inst. as specified in the agreement. This proposed sale called for a first payment today of $250,000. The prospective purchasers, who are New York capitalists, had agreed to pay $3,900,000 for two thirds of the capital stock of the Lucky Tiger-Combination company which now amounts to $8,000,000, it having been increased to that amount at the last annual meeting of the company.

The vanguard of the greatest railroad grading and track laying outfit that ever came into Arizona, the Southern Pacific has brought into Kelton, near the Courtland station. In the outfit are 800 mules, great number of scoops and plows, and an army of men sufficient to grade two miles of railroad a day. This big force will be followed by other sections of the four trains which have moved Grant Brothers' Construction company's outfit from the Southern Pacific construction work near Tepic up over the border at Nogales, to build the series of lines from Courtland to Douglas and from Douglas by way of Forest Ranch to Naco and Bisbee.

A canvass of the copper metal trade reveals the facts that a majority hold the opinion that copper will greatly increase in value from now on. As far as any prediction of future prices is concerned 15 cents is almost unanimously mentioned. A large number of well informed interests point out that electrical equipment companies are now experiencing a large increase in orders, in fact, the General Electric company announces that it is doing a business on the basis of an outturn of $60,000,000 per annum. Its high record was attained in 1907 with a total of $70,977,000 as compared with $43,147,000 in 1906, $39,231,000 in 1905. If business continues to improve during the next year in the same proportion shown for the six months, just passed, the amount of manufacturing for 1909 will exceed that of 1907, the banner year.

The actual moving of the Arizona territorial prison from Yuma to Florence will begin next week, says the Tucson Star. Several batches of prisoners will be conveyed to the new penitentiary structure, rapidly nearing completion. It will probably take a month to move all of the prisoners, numbering 260, to the new institution. Following the prisoners will go the office furniture and fixtures, and the records and everything belonging to the prison that is movable. The first of October will find the old penitentiary on the hill completely abandoned as a prison for the territory. Its walls, behind which much unhappiness has been confined, will be tenantless. The tragedies and heartaches which they have hidden from the world will have moved away and be no more. The United States flag, which has floated over the institution all of these years, will be pulled down and Yuma will have ceased to be a convict town.

MEXICAN LAND FOR SALE.

To parties wishing to buy land:
I have a body of land for sale, about 22,000 acres situated on the Cananea, Yaqui River & Pacific railway, down in the state of Sinaloa, Mexico. The railroad passes right through the property and the north boundary of the land is a river of considerable importance. Improvements are worth about $15,000, Mexican. This is finest piece of land for a colony I have ever seen, although I know nearly every foot of West Mexico.

A lot of land already cleared and the remainder has fine timber and an unlimited amount of fire wood. The land will produce anything.

Price, $95,000, Mexican, cash. No land sharks or schemers need apply.

Anyone interested, apply to E. D. Miller, care THE BORDER VIDETTE, Nogales, Arizona.
